Title: My Colors, My World / Mis colores mi mundo by Maya Christina Gonzalez

Best for: TK - 1st grade

Summary: This book is about a little girl named Maya who lives in the desert. She has to search to find colors in her world, such as Papi's black hair and Mami's orange and purple flowers, and Maya's red swing set, and the fiery pink sunset.

Why we chose this book: We love the fact that this book is in both Spanish and English, so readers can choose one language or read both. We also love the colorful illustrations and the story of how Maya can find vibrant colors in a place like the desert.

Central themes: Family life, children's art, colors

Introducing the book: You can begin by showing the cover, reading the title and author, and then saying something like this:

"This book is about a girl named Maya who lives with her family in a desert. What do you know about deserts?"

"Does anyone here have a favorite color?"

After Reading: Debrief with students

"What is Maya's favorite color? Do you remember where we see her favorite color?"

"Why does Maya say she needs to open her eyes "extra wide" to see the colors in her world?"

"What do you think the author wants us to do after reading the story?"
